We Need Your Assistance!

The 14th annual Month of the Young Adolescent begins in October 2010, and we're asking 10- to 15-year-olds to join us. One of the highlights of Month of the Young Adolescent is the online publication "Expressions from the Middle." This publication features original artwork submitted by young adolescents from around the world. If one of your students' artwork is selected to be featured in "Expressions from the Middle," he or she will receive a cash prize and international recognition!

Please help your students become actively involved in Month of the Young Adolescent.

Art Teachers: We've created an additional information page for you to copy and distribute to students. Submit your students' best Month of the Young Adolescent artwork. Types of media accepted, but not limited to: oil, acrylic, or watercolor painting; charcoal, or colored pencil drawing; 3-D submissions such as sculpture; and computer generated graphics. NMSA will not accept pencil or pen drawings on notepad paper. For examples of high-quality student work, view last year's contest winners at www.nmsa.org/moya. Color copies and quality photos of artwork are accepted (especially for 3-D projects); however, we do accept original artwork. Please keep in mind that submissions will not be returned. When submitting computer generated graphics or digital photos of the students' artwork, please send these files with the student's name clearly marked within the electronic file name. These digital images should be saved at the highest resolution (megapixels) possible.
