

Figure 1 "My First Amendment Rights"

My First Amendment Rights

I don't know but I've been told
Our constitution's mighty bold.
They made some changes to protect
Freedoms we've come to expect.
The First Amendment keeps in sight
These freedoms that we call our rights.

Any religion of my choice,
I'm allowed to give a voice.

I don't know but I've been told
Our constitution's mighty bold.
The First Amendment gives in kind
The sacred right to speak our minds.

The First Amendment has no less
Eternal freedom of the press.

I don't know but I've been I've been told
Our constitution's mighty bold.
This same amendment gives the right
For us to gather as we like.

And if they take these rights away
Our courts will let us have our say.

I don't know but I've been I've been told
Our constitution's mighty bold.

(Chant to "I Don't Know What I've Been Told" or
"Sound Off," also known as "The Duckworth Chant")